

HMMG Spotlight on... JULIET LOVE

Stylist, Interior Designer and Television Host Juliet Love's entertaining prowess developed from a career that began working as the Merchandising Editor for entertaining bible, Vogue Entertaining & Travel.

Juliet's first big break came in 2009 when she was offered the co-hosting role on The LifeStyle Channel's The Party Garden™ where she met her now husband, Charlie Albone. The program is based on transforming gardens across Australia into the perfect outdoor celebration setting. Juliet has also appeared on screen in a Covergirl video alongside Jennifer Hawkins, Today Tonight segments, Bigpond TV and on the Real Living website.

Having always had a passion for being creative and upon completing her training in 2007, Juliet created and now operates design business, Love Style.

HMMG is working with Juliet on further developing her television and event presenting skills and together creating ideas for online content and editorial opportunities.
